

Move is complete

Contributed by Terry
Thursday, 23 October 2008

Yesterday, our website was moved onto our new hosts. The entire process took a couple of hours to complete and things should be returning back to normal now. If you cannot open any links on the frontpage of our site, its because our DNS hasn't resolved in your area yet. Click the forums link in the navbar above and go to Forum Announcements and News for further explanations. Fingers crossed, the site should be fully functional again for everyone at the latest by tomorrow morning. We are sorry for any inconvenience this has caused but the move was necessary to moving forward in our plans for the site and we thank you for your understanding.